HOW CFES PROTECT YOUR ORGANIZATION

A Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE) is a globally recognized, trained professional who protects organizations, businesses and the general public from business fraud. ACFE research indicates that organizations with CFEs on staff experience fraud losses that are 54% smaller than organizations without CFEs on staff.

Key staff with an understanding of fraud prevention and detection in every department are critical, and membership with the ACFE pertains to all job functions. Having CFEs on staff ensures that employees recognize the warning signs that indicate evidence of fraud. Organizations with CFEs on staff uncover fraud 40% sooner and the Corporate Alliance is the vehicle that can help you certify your staff, or even entire teams and departments, bringing an unparalleled level of anti-fraud knowledge to the table.

Joining the Corporate Alliance as part of a proactive anti-fraud program will help protect your organization from fraud losses.

SHARE BEST PRACTICES

and work hand in hand with other participating companies in your fight against fraud. The Corporate Alliance hosts events and roundtables and has online forums to help foster connections between our members.

“Intel joined the Corporate Alliance because we wanted to have a closer connection to other companies that were facing similar issues around fraud and emerging [fraud] trends.”

— John Hurlimann, CFE
Global Intelligence,
Event & Executive Security Director
INTEL

DEEPEN YOUR TEAM'S ANTI-FRAUD SKILLS

by providing them access to exclusive savings on training and ensuring a consistent level of anti-fraud knowledge.

“HSBC joined the ACFE Corporate Alliance because we wanted to enhance anti-fraud professional development for our fraud and financial crime team in a sustainable, efficient and impactful way.”

— Kevin Lampeter
EVP,
Chief Security & Fraud Officer
HSBC USA

ENHANCE YOUR COMPANY'S IMAGE

through partnering with the ACFE and instill confidence in your employees, stakeholders and business prospects by making a firm statement of your fight against fraud.

“Access to training at a discounted price [through the Corporate Alliance] is very beneficial...Anyone that doesn't have the CFE, we ask them to get the certification.”

— Lyn Cameron, CFE, LL.B.
Senior Director,
Business Conduct Investigation
MICROSOFT CORPORATION
